Currently, I am working at Abtus World, where I handle multiple client projects from concept to completion—ensuring on-time delivery and pixel-perfect quality. My expertise includes HTML, CSS, JavaScript, Bootstrap, PHP, and MySQL, which I use to craft clean and efficient web solutions. I specialize in building responsive interfaces, managing dynamic content, and developing custom web functionalities tailored to client requirements. I take pride in understanding client goals, maintaining smooth communication, and delivering results that combine creative design with functional performance.
